THE HISTORY OF PIZZA

People have been eating thin dough flatbreads baked in the fire for thousands of years. However, pizza as we know it is only a good 140 years old and actually comes from Italy.

One of the first pizza fans is said to have been the Italian Queen Margherita, who had a pizza delivered to her palace as early as 1880: so there was already a pizza service!

When the Queen visited Naples in 1889, restaurant owner Raffaele Esposito is said to have served her a pizza in Italy's national colors – green, white and red – with basil, fior di latte and tomatoes.

Since then, this pizza has been popular all over the world as Pizza Margherita.
